LEADERSHIP

With a strong background in Arabic language education, translation, and cultural engagement, I actively contribute to society by promoting linguistic literacy, cultural understanding, and educational development. As a lecturer and instructor, I empower students with knowledge of Arabic language and literature, while my work as a professional translator ensures access to essential legal, educational, and religious texts across English, Arabic, and Urdu. Through my role in student affairs and as organizer of the Khyber Culture Society, I foster student growth, cultural awareness, and community engagement—serving as a bridge between academic knowledge and societal needs.

ACADEMIC CONTRIBUTION & RESEARCH

I have authored fifteen research papers published in national and international journals, and presented at various academic conferences and seminars. Additionally, I have organized several scholarly events, lectures, seminars and training promoting research, dialogue, and collaboration within the field of Arabic studies

COMMUNICATIONS

My academic and social communication skills have been honed through diverse roles at the University of Peshawar. As a Lecturer and Arabic Language Instructor, I effectively convey complex linguistic and literary concepts to students at various academic levels. My work as a professional translator demands precise written communication across Arabic, English, and Urdu. In my roles as Focal Person for Student Affairs and Organizer of the Khyber Culture Society, I engage with students, coordinate events, and address concerns with clarity, empathy, and cultural sensitivity—bridging academic knowledge with community engagement.
